“Connecting Families and Schools”

Colleen A.R. You, California State PTA President

Join me at the 116th California State PTA Annual Convention!

This is a great time to make connections, gain knowledge and grow in our PTA roles as we positively impact the lives of California’s children and families. PTA convention is a one-of-a-kind opportunity to be inspired. We will recognize and celebrate our scope and power. We will also see the amazing, positive outcomes that occur when passionate, diverse and caring individuals share a collective purpose.

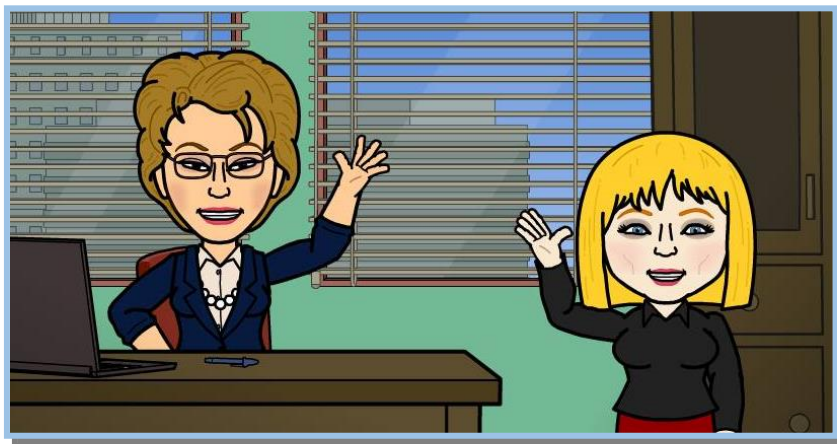

In Sacramento, you can network with other delegates to exchange ideas and best practices as well as celebrate successes. You can attend workshops and connect with presenters to enhance your skills in speaking up, leading, working together and communicating. You will meet a multitude of exhibitors and sponsors with ideas for products and programs. In general meetings, you’ll see firsthand the power and excitement of our association as we conduct business. Plus, we’ll be motivated and inspired by engaging panelists and speakers.

As a delegate, you have a vital role to play – and a story to share – when you return to your local PTAs. With the implementation of new state standards and assessments, and the first year of assessing local school districts’ accountability plans, the parent, teacher and community voice is integral for successful student outcomes.

Thank you for volunteering your time, passion and commitment to PTA. Come enjoy the convention experience!

Julie Redmond, California State PTA Vice President for Convention

Join us at this year’s California State PTA Annual Convention in our state’s capital – Sacramento. We will meet April 30 – May 3, 2015, at the Sacramento Convention Center. At this convention, you will have the opportunity to vote for your new state PTA Board of Directors. These are men and women who are charged with the duty of leading our organization forward. We will once again have the EdSource Symposium. New this year is the California Association of African American Administrators (CAAASA) Conference.

We will be offering various workshops to help you improve your leadership skills or to provide you with new information on dealing with issues as they relate to you, your children and their education. We have heard your request, and we will have a panel discussion with leaders from the three college systems here in California. Come and learn what is in store for your children as they further their education.

Also, new this year is an opportunity for you to have dinner with your state leaders as we celebrate our Reflections Art Program award winners. Then join us in the general meeting room to hear and see these very gifted children as they perform their works of art. Join us this year in Sacramento for our annual convention. See you there!

Nominated by Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger for California's highest judicial office on July 22, 2010, and retained in office by California voters on November 2, 2010, she was sworn in on January 3, 2011. Prior to her current appointment, Cantil-Sakauye had served in judicial offices on California's appellate and trial courts.

Mabery has been a science teacher for 15 years, of which 13 have been spent at Manhattan Beach Middle School, where her class motto is "Keep Calm and Science On." She takes pride in the boisterous nature of her technology-based classroom.

Her philosophy of teaching? "Noisy, breaking materials, lighting stuff on fire, out of seats, creating from scratch, active, group work, tech savvy, hands-on, engaging, intriguing" is how she sums up her classroom environment.

She has always been intrigued about technology and has shared it with enormous enthusiasm with her students and other teachers: iPads, white boards, apps—all are common tools in her classes. She believes this is her greatest contribution to education.
